What is Box?

Box is the market leader for Cloud Content Management. Our mission is to power how the world works together. Box is partnering with enterprise organizations to accelerate their digital transformation by creating a single platform for secure content management, collaboration, and workflow. We have an amazing opportunity to further establish ourselves as leaders in the space, and we need strong advocates to help us achieve that goal.

By joining Box, you will have the unique opportunity to help capture a majority of this developing market and define what content management looks like for the digital enterprise. Today, Box powers 100,000+ businesses, including many top Fortune 500 companies, who trust our secure collaboration platform to manage the entire content lifecycle.

Our Warsaw office is an incredibly exciting addition to our EMEA expansion. We're already in the UK, France, and Germany, and the new Poland location acts as a global engineering and product development hub alongside our headquarters in Redwood City, California.

Why Box needs you:

Box is looking for skilled individuals to join our teams in Warsaw, where we're expanding by over 100 members in 2024. Your expertise is crucial in addressing challenges related to cloud-based content management. You will partner with the engineering team based at our Warsaw office, and work closely with product marketing, business development, customer success, solution engineering and more cross-functional teams to align roadmaps and execute on the vision.

What you'll do:

Conduct market research, customer research and competitor analysis to inform product decisions and help develop product strategy

Write detailed product requirements and acceptance criteria by working closely with Product and Engineering Leads

Partner with Design and Engineering teams to develop new products and enhance existing ones that deliver measurable customer value

Measure results and iterate on features with a keen eye towards driving metrics that matter

Collaborate with GTM teams including Marketing, Sales, Solutions Engineering etc. to effectively communicate product messaging to customers, identify high-value use cases, and explore new product opportunities

Work effectively as part of a geographically distributed team

Who you are:

3+ years as software product manager, solution delivery manager, business analyst, or project manager

Bachelor's Degree or higher in Computer Science, Engineering, Business, or related fields

Capable of leading and motivating a team of engineers in a challenging, dynamic and global environment

Comfortable negotiating technical requirements and dependencies across the technical stack

Effective communication with all types of audiences, developers, procurement, or executives

Must speak English proficiently

Experience of building or deploying SaaS products, especially Information Security products such as watermarking, data leak prevention, etc., is a plus

Box lives its values, with community and in-person collaboration being a core part of our culture. Boxers are expected to work from their assigned office a minimum of 2 days per week, with a focus on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Your Recruiter will share more about how we work and company culture during the hiring process.
